

From: Robert Dreyer
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/3/02 8:22am
Subject: Microsoft.

It seems that so called lidigation into the Microsoft law suit has become no more than an extortion on the part of a bunch of greedy people who use the excuse of "were only thinking about whats best for the people". I don't think any of the Attorney generals wheather they be Federal of state have any other reason for the siut except its a place to shake a Co. down for the money

All these law suits are just for the money be it greedy lawyers or state and federal offices. Get off microsofts back and let them go on about there business. It seems if a Co. has some smart people and is inovative we can't have that, we have to bring them down to our level. Thats the way people in governmnet work any body with brain doesn't stand a chance there is no room in government for a thinker.

Sam Spade